BIG HOTEL TO BE BUILT OVER CAVE

News has been received at Glasgow, of the plan of Eastern capitalists to build a large hotel costing $500,000 over that portion of Mammoth Cave, which it has been recently found does not belong to the owners of the present hotel and entrance.

The site of the new building, which it is said will contain 400 rooms, is north of the present entrance on a high plateau.

From the lobby of the hotel a giant elevator, the first of its kind, will drop into the cave. The elevator will be built in three decks, one for each floor of the hotel. After a drop of 208 feet, the passengers of the two upper levels will descend into the cave by steps, according to R. P. Valtier, engineer for the American Elevator & Machine Company, of Louisville, who has been looking into the engineering phase and preparing plans with a view of obtaining the contract for the work.

"It is the intention of the promoters to open the new hotel by May 1, 1923," said Mr. Valtier. "The work of drilling a six-inch hole into the cave is nearly completed. This will be blasted out for the elevator shaft. There is a secret natural entrance to the cave, difficult to enter, but workmen are now using it for a passageway in order to improve the interior. Pathways and stairways are being constructed and bridges put across dangerous crevices."

Three years ago a surveyor discovered land which could be used for a second entrance and, with this secret, went East. After interesting a sufficient number of New York capitalists, he returned, and the Mammoth Cave Development Company was formed, with George D. Morrison, a New York contractor, as president. The other officers of the company are W. T. Yarell, treasurer, and Lou Render, secretary.

NEW WAR SHELLS SEEM TO THINK FOR SELVES

Shells and tractors that seem to think for themselves and other post-war marvels of ordnance development were demonstrated at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds in connection with the annual meeting of the Army Ordnance Association and affiliated engineering societies.

Shells with fuses devised to withstand the shocks of firing yet withholding their detonation until they touch the cloth of an airplane wing, vied for honors with equally deft projectiles of 2,000 pounds whose fuses wait until sixteen inches of armor steel has been penetrated before they explode their destructive charges. The former were developed for destruction of fragile aircraft and the latter for use against battleships and fortifications.

FIGHT FIRE AND WATER IN WRECK

American Professor, Wife and Children Have Exciting Experience in Argentine.

OIL-LADEN VESSEL BLOWS UP

Battle in Water With Fear-Crazed Passengers—Burning Oil Spreads Over Water and Many Are Horribly Burned.

New York.—A burning ship surrounded by a sea of blazing gasoline, attacks by passengers crazed with fear that threatened to impede escape and the buffeting of rough waves were the obstacles that Professor Edward K. Kemmerer of Princeton University, his wife and two children battled against and overcame when the steamer Villefrance was wrecked in the Parana river, Argentine, last June.

Professor Kemmerer, a noted economist, who was at one time financial adviser to the Mexican and Guatemalan governments, returned recently with his family.

It was a dramatic narrative of a fire and shipwreck and the many obstructions that he and his family had to surmount before reaching shore that the professor unfolded. The Kemmerers are the only cabin survivors of the river tragedy.

"We were awakened at 2 a. m. by a roaring explosion," Professor Kemmerer began. "We were in bed and jumped out clad only in our night clothing. Running to the companionway, we found the ship ablaze from stem to stern.

Fire on All Sides.

"We reached the deck, where there were sweeping flames and saw oil burning on the water on all sides. Women and children were running about, some with clothing afire, men were fighting and people were jumping overboard.

"It was terribly hot and people were shouting and shrieking all about and there was great confusion. We saw it all in an instant and we knew we had no time to lose. Suddenly the ship began to list.

"My wife and children—Ruth, twelve, and Donald, sixteen—are good swimmers. I shouted to them to run to the rail and we waited there a few minutes. We could see people who had jumped overboard who had been seized by the flames and were terribly burned, and all seemed to be drowning.

"We saw gradually the flames were dying out, as the oil surface was consumed. That was our chance for life. We dived over. The dive carried us out of reach of the flames near the ship. We swam under water a while.

"There was wreckage about us and many were struggling in the water. We got some distance from the vessel when there was another explosion. That was followed by more flames on the water, as more oil was blown out of the ship's hold where the cargo of gasoline was stored. We looked back and could see the ring of the fire coming on toward us.

Seized by Drowning Man.

"Suddenly I heard my wife scream, she had been seized by a drowning man who had gripped her and would have carried her down. Before I could reach her she had released herself and was swimming on. She was quite exhausted from the effort, however, and she had injured her leg, which had been broken several years ago.

"A man who had been burned and driven insane was on top of a table which had blown from the ship. He sprang off the table on me and after a severe struggle I succeeded in disengaging myself from him.

"When I had done so I found the sea was running higher and we became separated, and unable to get together. Finally, we brought up to shore at various points and were cared for by the natives. It was two hours before I found by wife and children. My wife's face was slightly burned, but she has recovered from it."

NAME CAVE FOR EXPLORERS

Lewis and Clark Cave in Montana Has Fine Collection of Stalactites and Stalagmites.

Butte, Mont.—Morrison cavern, 45 miles southeast of here, said to have been discovered in 1905 by George Morrison, has been placed under the supervision of the superintendent of national parks and renamed the Lewis and Clark cave in honor of the famous explorers.

The cavern has a collection of stalactites and stalagmites which is said to have few rivals in the country. After the proper lighting has been installed the large natural museum will be opened to the public.

The mouth of the passageway to the cave is at the summit of a limestone cliff 1,200 feet above the Jefferson river. The main room of the cave is large enough to permit holding large meetings there.

Five Kittens and One Tail.

Solom Springs, Wis.—This is not the tale of a cat, but the tale of five cats with one tail.

Edward Cay, a farmer, living near here, was startled when the old gray cat brought in five kittens—all joined to one tail.

PARIS FINISHED IN THIRD PLACE

Out of the mass of speculation and figuring that went on at the conclusion of the Blue Grass League race, there has at last come the official statement from President Russell, of Maysville. From this statement, which was issued Tuesday, it is shown that, owing to a number of games in which Paris participated being forfeited, the locals are placed in third place in the second half of the race, which was finally won by Maysville defeating the Cynthiana team in last Sunday's game. The forfeited games due to opponents using other than bonafide players accounts for the revised standing. According to the statement the clubs occupied the following positions at the conclusion: Cynthiana, Mt. Sterling, Paris, Maysville, Winchester, Lexington, President Russell's statement follows:

"Gentlemen—As your president, a great deal of criticism has been printed in certain newspapers in the circuit as to how I arrived as to the winner of the second half, and in justice to myself, I feel that you know the true solution of the matter. On and under date of October 5th I have the statement of J. A. Estes, the official statistician of the league, the following standing:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct
Cynthiana	24	17	.589
Paris	24	17	.589
Mt. Sterling	20	17	.541
Lexington	18	22	.450
Maysville	17	22	.436
Winchester	17	25	.405

"At your meeting held in Paris, September 23, I was informed that all games were moved up so that the season could close October 4th, and that an agreement was made between Paris, Mt. Sterling and Cynthiana that should any postponed games have bearing on the winner of the second half that they should be played on Thursday and Friday and the post series should start on Saturday, October 7. On Thursday Mt. Sterling vs. Cynthiana. Mt. Sterling won; on Friday Paris vs. Mt. Sterling, Mt. Sterling won. This would make the standing as follows: Cynthiana, Won 25—Lost 16—per cent 581. Paris won 25—Lost 18—per cent 585. Mt. Sterling won 22—Lost 17, per cent 565. Lexington won 18—Lost 22, per cent 436. Winchester won 17—Lost 25, per cent 405.

"At the meeting held in Maysville Friday, October 6, Mt. Sterling, Lexington, Cynthiana and Maysville being present, Paris by proxy held by Cynthiana, the game in which Ballou, King, Bacon, Mueller (while playing with Lexington) and Potts were protested. The claim being that they were ineligible players.

"On investigation I found that Bacon was a suspended player, King belongs to Louisville, Mueller by the statement of Morton in the meeting was not under contract and a vote was taken on same and the games in which they played were forfeited. The vote being Cynthiana, Maysville and Lexington, Yes; Mt. Sterling, No. Cynthiana refused to vote the proxies of Paris, hence the following games were forfeited: Mt. Sterling vs. Lexington, Bacon pitching, awarded to Winchester. Cynthiana vs. Lexington, Mueller pitching, awarded to Cynthiana. The games in which Potts played were also protested and they are under investigation. Just as soon as answers are received from Secretary Farrell they will be promulgated, however if they are forfeited or not, they will have no bearing on the standing, as I have tabulated them in the Mt. Sterling column. In the games of Ballou I have a telegram from Secretary Farrell saying that the games in which Ballou played are O. K., and he is the judge of same. However, you can appeal from his decision to the National Board of Governors. From the above I have compiled the standing of the League as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct
Cynthiana	25	17	.594
Mt. Sterling	23	16	.590
Paris	24	18	.571
Maysville	17	22	.430
Winchester	18	24	.428
Lexington	16	26	.380

QUAINT EXPRESSIONS IN STATE POLITICS

Kentucky politics abounds in a variety of expressive terms and quaint colloquialisms, many of which have become time-honored in their usage. Some of the political terms and expressions are of State-wide character, while others are confined to a section.

Political terms that originated in Kentucky, but now having nationwide usage, are "Politics Is Hell" and "Going Up" Salt River." The first has been adopted as the most expressive aphorism applicable to political reverses and the other is applied to defeated candidates generally in or out of Kentucky.

"Sufficiently shod to go through the briar patch" is a much used mountain political expression and translated means that the candidate for office has the "wherewith" and is well-heeled financially to meet the demands made upon him in his quest for public preferment.

The voter that barters his suffrage is generally termed a "float-er," but in some parts of the State he is called a "boddler" and in others a "blood-sucker" or a "louse."

That he is in the race from "eend to eend," means that the candidate will not withdraw, but will run it out to the finish. "Running like a 'skeered' dog" means that the candidate for office is not allowing any over-confidence in the result to diminish any of his campaign activities.

"Beating the bushes" refers to a close and systematic canvass for votes and a "stillhunt" means conducting a race or campaign on the quiet without attracting the attention of the opposition. "Sore spots" designate post-election bitterness and bad feeling. "Yaller dog" is an uncompromising partisan that will not "scratch" or vote for the candidates of another party.

Easy to Get at the Peas.
